

Interdisciplinary Studies (IDST)

Courses

IDST 20003. Introduction to Interdisciplinary Studies. 3 Hours.

Explores the history, development, and practical applications of interdisciplinary studies, encompassing key concepts, theories, methods, and models related to the field. Required of all Interdisciplinary Studies majors. Prerequisite: IDSTBA major or PIDST student, or instructor consent. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer)

IDST 4000V. Independent Study in Interdisciplinary Studies. 1-6 Hour.

Independent study in Interdisciplinary studies. Arranged in agreement and under the guidance of a faculty member. Prerequisite: IDST 20003, IDSTBA Major, and Instructor Permission. (Typically offered: Fall, Spring and Summer) May be repeated for up to 6 hours of degree credit.

IDST 40103. Senior Capstone. 3 Hours.

A capstone experience for graduating Interdisciplinary Studies students. Emphasizes skills of analysis, synthesis, and integration of knowledge gained from previous coursework in general education and interdisciplinary studies. Prerequisite: IDST 20003, Senior standing, and an IDSTBA major. (Typically offered: Fall and Spring)